

PRUDISH OVER LONG COURSE FRIENDLESS AND AT 30 TO 1 SHE CARRIES H. P. WHITNEY'S SILKS TO EASY VICTORY.

COMES FROM BEHIND Under Slight Restraint She Races to Early Spring Training Form.

By HENRY V. KING.

Prudish always has been contrary and inconsistent horses, but few in recent years have been such an enigma as Harry Payne Whitney's three-year-old black bay Prudish. Early this spring this miss was a whirlwind with a disposition like a lamb and one that could carry her speed over any distance of ground. Time and again at Brookdale she outran and outstayed Olympus, who was one of the favorites for the Kentucky Derby.

Before the metropolitan racing season opened she fell a victim to the cough and fever which played havoc with the thoroughbred world. She recovered quickly and came to Belmont Park as fast and as strong apparently as when she was racing Olympus in the spring. She started in two races and each time carried the hopes and wagers of her stable connections, and each time she showed a flight of speed, but quit to almost a walk after running five furlongs. Jimmy Rowe, Jr., could not understand her and came to the conclusion that her sickness had sapped her strength.

Yesterday she came out for the Coaching Club American Oaks at one mile and three furlongs, the same journey as was the Belmont. Few racegoers believed she had a possible chance of winning. All believed she was entered so that Mr. Whitney would be represented in the classic. As a result she was the extreme outsider in the race at the long odds of 30 to 1. And these odds were not long enough to tempt any of the 15,000 persons present to wager on her.

Plenty of Speed and Stamina.

But when it came to racing she was a different horse. She didn't run five furlongs and quit. She ran the one mile and three furlongs and at the end was apparently strong enough to duplicate the journey. At the judges' stand she was galloping a length and a half in front of Robert L. Gerry's Emotion, who beat Mrs. Payne Whitney's King's Best and many other lengths for the second end of the purse.

The Coaching Club Oaks is one of the most coveted stakes for fillies on the American turf. It is for the fillies what the Belmont is for the colts—a test of speed and endurance. The association added $2,500 to it and the Coaching Club added $2,500 to it. In quest of this priceless cup forty of the best fillies in the country were named to start. Of this number six were named over night, and all of them went to the post. Emotion coupled with her stable mate, Bee's Wax, was the favorite at 1 to 10. And she was backed by a host of followers and was well supported at 2 to 1. The others, Thomas Fortune Ryan's Rose Hill, Mrs. Whitney's King's Best and Prudish were practically overlooked.

Faster Race Than Philly's.

Prudish won the race like a great filly. She stepped behind Emotion and waited for a mile then made a bid for the lead. She found Emotion in front and full of run and fight and she was compelled to do before she raced down her opponents. When Emotion cracked she went to the front and all through the last furlongs Morris was easing her up. She covered the distance in 1:55.5, a time which was a second faster than Philly made in the Belmont.

The early pace was extremely fast. But only for the first half mile. Prudish went to the front soon after the barrier went and followed closely by many fillies stepped along at a snail's pace. But fast as it was Prudish wanted any too fast. Emotion wanted any too fast. Prudish, which ran on the leader's heels.

At the end of six furlongs Bee's Wax faltered and many fillies went to the lead. But only for the first half mile. Prudish went to the front soon after the barrier went and followed closely by many fillies stepped along at a snail's pace. But fast as it was Prudish wanted any too fast. Emotion wanted any too fast. Prudish, which ran on the leader's heels.

No Cheers for Winner.

There wasn't a cheer to greet the winner when she stepped past the post. She hadn't a friend, and many racegoers were unable to fathom her inconsistency. Young Jimmy Rowe, who has had the Whitney horses all season, was jubilant at winning the stake, but chagrined for not having had a wager on her. She had fooled him twice and he was among the losers who believed she had little chance of success.

He said he couldn't explain her two previous bad races unless they were a result of work she gave her in the mud. He said that his father told him that that had probably hurt her.

Other horsemen who analyzed her races said that the big improvement came because she was unable to get to the front in the early part of this race and when she was held under slight restraint she felt like running and did her best.

Walter J. Salmon's Eldorado led home a big field of juvenile fillies in the opening event, but she didn't get the purse. She was disqualified because Charlie Miller, who rode her, showed Lang on possible out of his way to prevent being knocked down. All the way down the stretch Eldorado carried possible along and in toward the mill. When right in front of the judges Lang was almost leg locked with him and he gave him a shove. As he did so Lang pulled up and the crowd believed he had mistaken the finish line. Then he went on and finished second.

Manual 'Goes Wild' When 'Herald' Cup Is Presented

Joseph Canavan Gives Trophy to High School Which Won Relay Title—Remarkable Celebration Attended by Gen. Wingate.

As a setting for the presentation of the New York Herald cup won by Manual Training in the one mile relay at the high school championships last Saturday, the Brooklyn Institute yesterday held the greatest celebration yet seen in a local school. It was "Hip, hip, hurrah for THE NEW YORK HERALD" from start to finish—and the boys and girls went wild when the big trophy was brought to the platform and presented to the school by Joseph Canavan, city editor of THE NEW YORK HERALD.

The big assembly hall was filled to overflowing for the festivities. Only a few hundred unfortunates who were busy taking examinations had to forego the pleasure of participating in the celebration of the school's fine victory. In addition to Mr. Canavan's well chosen words there were speeches by Gen. W. H. Wingate, president of the P. S. A. L., Dr. Snyder, principal of Manual Training, and Ira Bloom, coach of the track and field athletes.

The track team was seated on the platform with the cup behind the speakers of the day. Dr. Snyder told of the history of sport at Manual Training, his great victories and the great spirit of sport for sports' sake. He stated that as many as 1,300 athletes had entered one of the school's fold days and that seventy-three baseball teams had been engaged in a school tournament. He emphasized the fact that athletics in Manual Training was conducted not for victories alone.

Way Field Will Shape Up in Brooklyn Handicap

Gov. Wingate told of the history of the P. S. A. L., its struggles and its triumphs. He paid a fine tribute to THE NEW YORK HERALD for coming to the Brooklyn Handicap and the Carlton Stakes on its roster the first two days may be accepted as an indication of what is to be expected later on.

Gov. Wingate, who was accompanied by Grey Lag is a guarantee of the quality of the Brooklyn, while the fact that Morvich will make his first start this year in the East in the Carlton will interest.

That the Brooklyn will be a mighty track battle is assured. Exterminator's phenomenal form this spring has caused the public to place him on a pedestal and he is appropriately ranked among the greatest horses the American turf has known. If he can shoulder 135 pounds and give a four-year-old of the admitted class of Grey Lag nine pounds and his gelding allowance he will be entitled to the acclaim of followers of the thoroughbred world over. Grey Lag probably will go to the post the favorite, but in the race last year when he was a three-year-old, he carried 110 pounds and covered the mile and a furlong in 1:49.45, only two-fifths of a second behind in 1:51.77. That Grey Lag is back to form which made him the best three-year-old in 1921 was shown by the way he galloped a mile over Belmont Park on May 12, in 1:33.30, and the same time on his back as he will carry to-day.

If this pair alone started for the Brooklyn the race would be a great one, but there is a lot of other good horses engaged for the fine old fixture, which was inaugurated in 1887, when it was won by Dry Monopole after a heart-breaking struggle with Blue Wing and Hidalgo.

Morvich will find stiff opposition in the Carlton, as Whiskaway, Snob II, and other eligibles are able to carry their unquestioned speed over the mile route the stakes call for.

GREY LAG FAVORITE FOR THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP

In Receipt of Nine Pounds From Exterminator in Aqueduct Classic.

That the spring meeting of the Queens County Jockey Club, which opens to-day, will be a memorable one is evidenced by the early promise of two such favorites as the Brooklyn Handicap and the Carlton Stakes on its roster the first two days may be accepted as an indication of what is to be expected later on.

Gov. Wingate, who was accompanied by Grey Lag is a guarantee of the quality of the Brooklyn, while the fact that Morvich will make his first start this year in the East in the Carlton will interest.

DEMPEY-WILLS MATCH, SAYS TEX PROMOTER THINKS CHAMPION'S EXORBITANT DEMANDS PRE- CLUDE BOUT.

Promoter Thinks Champion's Exorbitant Demands Pre- clude Bout.

Tex Rickard is not impressed with the prospect of a Dempsey-Wills bout this summer or next fall, and this despite the fact that the Boxing Commission has notified the champion to get in line and defend his title. The promoter said yesterday that he could not convince himself that the champion was sincere in his declared willingness to meet the challenger.

"What makes me think Dempsey will not get into the ring with Wills this year is the price he puts on his services. I wonder if he and his corner can be thinking of to demand half a million dollars. I am afraid that European tip turned their heads."

Wills said yesterday that Dempsey will not get $50,000 from me for fighting Wills or any other boxer. If he boxes for me he will get on a percentage and if he gets $300,000 he will be doing well.

"The same goes for Kilbane and any other boxers who think they can hold me up for extravagant guarantees. They all get back to a common-sense basis. Mr. Rickard expect to do any business with me."

Rickard said he would be pleased to put Johnny Wilson in the ring with Harry Greb, and if the middleweight was willing to accept reasonable terms the match would be made.

Schooner Vagrant Beats Flying Cloud 5 Seconds

Istalena Defeats Carolina in the Fifty Foot Class— Zilph Wins Over the Forties in New York Yacht Clubs' Spring Regatta.

By ARTHUR F. ALDRIDGE.

Twenty yachts took part yesterday in the races for the Glen Cove cups of the New York Yacht Club. They were favored by a moderate wind from southwest by south, which held true all day. The race committee—H. de B. Parsons, Gherardi Davis and Clinton Mackenzie—was on H. D. Whiton's yacht Penguin and established the starting line at Mark D. Points, off the club station at Glen Cove.

The course signaled was a triangle, with turning marks off Execution Rock Light and off Parsons Point. The triangle is 10% miles long. The 10% mile and the largest of the warning signal was at 1 o'clock and ten minutes later the schooners were sent off. These were Commodore H. S. Vanderbilt's Vagrant and Winthrop W. Aldrich's Flying Cloud. Captain Hoyt sailed on Flying Cloud. That yacht, rating 10 feet less than Vagrant, was allowed 8 minutes and 4 seconds.

They reached the windward mark with Vagrant leading. The wind was over the starboard quarter on the second leg and with all kites drawing, Vagrant improved her lead. The last leg was windward work. Vagrant steadily increased her lead and finished 5 minutes 9 seconds ahead of Flying Cloud, winning the race by 5 seconds. Flying Cloud is to be re-raced, and those figures may be changed.

Dempsy May Meet Willard.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—Jack Dempsy, heavy-weight champion pugilist, may meet Jess Willard, from whom he won the title, in a return match next Labor Day, Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, said late to-day. Kearns said he was loath for the fight to-morrow, and while there would take up propositions made by Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Ted Rickard of New York for a Dempsy-Willard match.
